Spring Contests to Be Held Next Week

Plans Are Made for Mothers Day

Annual Event will Be Held on May 17 and Mothers will Be Guests at May Fete.

The Faculty Committee on Public Relations, of which Mr. O. Myking Mehus is chairman, met last Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock and made arrangements for Mothers Day at the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College. The committee voted to have the annual Mothers Day program on May 17 in order that the Mothers may be the guests of their sons and daughters at the May Fete.

A full day's program, which will provide entertainment for the mothers at every hour of the day, has been planned by the Public Relations Committee.

At nine o'clock the mothers will register in social hall. From nine until eleven o'clock the mothers will visit classes and see various demonstrations in the home economics department and an exhibit of the work done by the students in the art department.

A special Mothers Day assembly program prepared by C. J. Velie, chairman of the music department, and Minnie B. James, chairman of the commerce department, will be given at 11 o'clock.

After the special assembly the mothers will go to Residence Hall where they will be served lunch at 12:15.

From three until four o'clock they will meet in social hall for a

Mehus Addresses P. T. A. Meeting

Dr. O. Myking Mehus, instructor in the Department of the Social Sciences, addressed the members of the Parent-Teachers Association in Burlington Junction, Friday, April 12. The subject of Dr. Mehus' address was "The Future Tasks for Today's Children."

Other features of the program for the evening consisted of two piano solos, "Consolation," and "Warriors Song," by Edwin Tyson; two vocal solos, "All Through the Night" and "Requiem," by Turner Tyson; and two violin solos, "Spanish Dance" and "The Rain" by Morris Yaden accompanied by Edna Mary Monk.

In his address Dr. Mehus emphasized some of the unsolved problems which the next generation will have to help solve. He discussed the problems connected with crime and the question of unemployment and the securing of a more even distribution of wealth. In concluding Dr. Mehus dwelt upon methods of bringing about better international understandings in such a way that problems between nations can be solved without resort to bloodshed.

Dr. Mehus spoke approximately one hour. When he finished the soloist arose and sang "All Through the Night."

Miller-Seyster Head Students

Dean Miller and Max Seyster, both members of the junior class, were elected president and vice-president of the student body in the election held Friday, April 12.

Miller, running without competition for the major position, was elected by the unanimous vote of the student body. Seyster won a close contest with Warren Crow for the vice-presidency. Final tabulation declared Seyster the winner by the narrow margin of 24 votes.

The voting was not as heavy as it should have been in such an important election. A total of less than 400 votes were cast in the eight hours of polling. Part of the reason for the light vote was probably due to the distraction of other events taking place during the day.

When questioned in regard to their executive policies the candidates promised that henceforth the tree leaves will be pancakes and the swimming pool will be filled with maple syrup.

social hour.

At six o'clock the mothers will have dinner with their sons and daughters and at eight o'clock the mothers will be the guests of their sons and daughters at the annual May Fete.

The students are asked to take advantage of the Easter vacation to invite their mothers to the Mothers Day activities.

At the meeting the following sub-committees were appointed:

Registration, Hubert Garrett and Leslie Somerville.

Tour of the Campus and Visitation of Classes, Hugh G. Wales. Assembly, Minnie B. James and C. James Velie.

Luncheon, Dr. Henry Alexander, Katherine Helwig and Elizabeth White.

Social Hour, Margaret Stephenson and Elizabeth White.

May Fete, Lillian Blanchard.

The Faculty Committee will be assisted by students who will help make arrangements for Mothers Day.

Faculty Members to Address Graduates

Several instructors at the College have recently received invitations to give the commencement addresses at the spring graduating exercises in neighboring high schools.

Mr. Hugh Wales, instructor in commerce, will speak to the seniors in Sheridan high school.

Mr. Stephen G. LaMar, publicity director, will address the senior classes in Hopkins, Ravenwood and Oak Grove.

Mr. Bert Cooper, instructor in education, will give the address in Grant City.

Robert May, B. S., 1930, who is teaching Industrial Arts classes in the high school at Maitland, was at the College for a brief visit last week.

Next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 25, 26, 27, are the days set for the Northwest Missouri high school contests which are held each spring at the College. Mr. Herbert R. Dieterich will act as general manager of the contests.

Entrance blanks furnished to each of the competing schools must have been forwarded to Mr. Dieterich before last Wednesday, April 7, and all entries postmarked later than that date are to be thrown out. No enrollment fee is being charged the schools participating in the meets this year.

The school making the greatest number of points in certain selected contests will receive a trophy.

An award will go to the school making the second greatest number of points. Points will be counted as follows: first place, 5 points; second place, 3 points; third place, one point; and in case of a tie, the points will be divided. The results of the following contests will be considered in totaling points for awarding scholastic trophies: first year algebra, plane geometry, advanced algebra, general science, physics, biology, citizenship, world history, American history, American problems, high school geography, grammar, general outside reading, and literary interpretation.

Some award will be given to the winner in every individual team, group, or organization event. High school seniors who are winners of individual contests, except in athletics, will receive credit for $13.50 on the incidental and activity fee required by the College if they attend the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College during the first quarter of the school year, 1935-36.

The College will not furnish meals or lodging for contestants but will, upon request, furnish a list of suitable quarters to be had at a reasonable rate. Contestants will be admitted free only to contests in which they take part. Regular admittance fee is twenty-five cents for preliminary events and thirty-five cents for the night programs on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Day tickets—those good for all events of any one day—will be sold at a rate of twenty-five cents for high school students, and fifty cents for others.

On Thursday, April 25, all Class C music events will be held at the College. At 8:30 a. m., violin and cello contests will be in session in Social Hall, while the piano contestants will compete in the auditorium. In social hall at 9:30 a. m., the clarinet, bassoon, flute and oboe events will be held, during which, in the auditorium, the boys' and girls' quartet contests will be conducted.

At 10:30 a. m., Class C alto and soprano solos will be judged in social hall and the boys glee clubs will compete in the auditorium at the same hour. At 11:00 a. m., tenor and baritone solo contests will be held in social hall, while the girls' glee clubs will be

Cat Trackmen Win First Meet

Piling up 82½ points to 52½ for Warrensburg, the Bearcats won their first track and field meet, last Friday, April 12th.

Herschel Neil, Bearcat, and conference sprint champion, led the field with 19 points. Neil won the 100 and 220 yard dashes and ran on the winning half-mile relay team. In the field events he won first in the broad jump and tied with Bob Tracy for first in the high jump.

Walter Rulon came through on his last throw and tossed the spear for a distance of 156 feet 9 inches to win first place. Roy Brown, a new man in a track suit, but well established when on the basketball floor, won second in the 220-yard dash and ran on the winning half mile relay team.

Thompson, freshman distance man, surprised the Bearcat followers by winning both the mile and two-mile runs. Thompson was followed closely in each race by "Little Doc" Wilson. Orval Johnson, last season's two-miler, who has been converted into a hurdle man this season, won the high hurdles and was a close second to "Dusty" Rhodes in the lows.

The summary follows:

Mile run—Thompson, Maryville; Wilson, Maryville; Ramsey, Warrensburg; Time 5:03.2.

100 yard Dash—Neil, M. Scott, M; Bapts, W; Time :10.

440 yard Dash—Hackenburg, W; Ramsey, W; Scott, M. Time :53.2.

120 high Hurdles—Johnson, M; Dow, W; no third. Time :16.1.

880 yard Run—Nicholas, W; Gray, M; Allen, W. Time 2:10.2.

220 yard Dash—Neil, M; Brown, M; Bapts, W. Time :21.8.

220 yard low hurdles—Rhodes, M; Johnson, M; Marsden, W. Time :26.3.

880 yard Relay—Maryville. Time 1:37.

Two Mile Run—Thompson, M; Wilson, M; Dempsey, W. Time 11:42.

Mile Relay—Warrensburg, Time 3:41.3.

Discus—Teegarten, W; Hicks, M; Woodfiel, W. Distance, 115 feet.

Pole vault—Moore, M; Warrensburg, W; Weaver, W and Tyson, M tied for third. Ht. 10 ft. 7 in.

High jump—Neil and Tracy, M, tied for first; McDermott, W. Height 5 feet 11 inches.

Shot Put—Daggs, W; Newell, W; Sipes, M. Distance 38 feet, 10 inches.

Javelin throw—Rulon, Maryville; Simmons, W; Teegarten, W. Distance 156 feet 9 inches.

Broad Jump—Neil, M; Smith, W; Good, M. Distance, 21 feet 5 inches.

Friends of the College Classes of 1915 and 1925 should get busy and turn in items and new addresses of these people so that they won't dare miss the Alumni Dinner this spring for fear that the wrong "low down" has been given out concerning them.

1000 Here Senior Day

Visitors Swarm Buildings and Campus to Make First Senior Day Complete Success.

A crowd of more than 1,000 high school seniors and their sponsors swarmed thru the College buildings last Friday, April 12, to make the first observance of High School Senior Day an even greater success than had been anticipated.

The day's activities began at 8:00 o'clock with the central registration of all guests, at headquarters established in the lower hall. At that time there were given instructions for the day's procedure, tickets for lunch and the Warrensburg-Maryville track meet, and copies of the special issue of the Northwest Missourian which had been printed for the occasion.

After the preliminary arrangements had been made, each group was given a student guide to act as leader and lecturer during a charted tour of the College buildings and campus. The tour began with a thorough inspection of the administration building and the various departments which were in operation. From there the groups were taken to the other buildings and to the various spots of interest on the campus.

At 9:00 o'clock a one-act play was presented in the auditorium for the entertainment of the guests.

The special assembly planned for the occasion was held in the auditorium at 11:00 o'clock. At that time the guests were welcomed by Miss Dow, instructor in foreign languages at the College. After the address of welcome Virgil Woodside and the College quartet gave a number of musical

Darlington Senior Has Fine Notebook

Natalie Cravens, one of last week's visiting seniors from Darlington High School, is the owner of an exceptionally fine notebook that was being exhibited at the College last Friday. The notebook represents the compilation of a year's work in general biology and contains a complete coverage of that subject.

The work contains approximately 180 pages of material, half of which is text and half drawings. The drawings were all designed freehand but have been so well done that they are actually better than those in many biology textbooks. Many of them have been done with appropriate colors.

Miss Cravens is also an outstanding student in other phases of school work. She does especially good work in dramatics.

"Steamboat" Wallace, a former graduate, is superintendent of schools at Darlington.

DIRTLESS POLITICS

Someone certainly should be commended for the high type of political campaign that was carried on in the recent student election. On a number of counts it was probably as fine a campaign as the school has had for some time.

The first and the finest thing in evidence was the high type and calibre of the student candidates who were presented by both factions. Every individual was more than amply qualified in regard to both character and intelligence, the prerequisites of good student government. The recognized attributes of the candidates is indeed a fine commentary on the character of the organizations by whom they were presented.

The election itself was carried on in a very honorable fashion. There was no mud-slinging, no aggravation of petty animosities, and very little "unfair competition." The whole thing was carried on in a spirit of good clean fun and friendly competition. Let's follow this model in future years.

A POLITICAL SYSTEM

The following editorial, taken from the Park College Stylus, should be of special interest to students who are concerned with the political phases of student government.

A PARTY SYSTEM

On the third page of this week's Stylus is an announcement of the proposal for a party system of holding student-body elections. This plan will be discussed at the student council meeting this week.

The party system would, the editor believes, be a progressive step. Its chief importance lies in the fact that it would stir up interest in student body affairs, bring out a larger vote, and make the officers selected more representative of the student body.

It would encourage the discovery of new candidates and the discussion of their merits. It would make students devote more thought to the functions of the student body organization. If there were more interest in student council elections, there would be more interest in student body government throughout the year.

The system would give any group a chance to nominate candidates and to urge their merits in open meetings.

There is one danger in the scheme. The party system might crystalize little animosities and differences of opinion into lasting grievances. The promoter of the plan says that the rallies should be kept free from mudslinging and personalities. Probably the public or semi-public nature of the meetings would tend to minimize such tactics. There would be some chance for whispering campaigns, but there are likely to be animosities and grievances in any system. It is doubtful whether any very serious disagreements would result. The party system will not be serious enough for that.

It seems that there is no basis for the objection that the parties would supplant any campus organization. Their whole function should be to provide a means of nominating and electing officers.

They should not be organized in connection with any campus organization. Most of the campus organizations now in existence have a definite purpose and the nomination of student body officers is not part of the work of any of them.

The student council should act as an umpire and see that the election of officers is carried on in a fair and businesslike manner.

Since the plan advocated by the editor of the Park Stylus has been in actual operation on our campus for a number of years it might be interesting to compare the foregoing analysis with what we now know to be true of the plan in its practical results.

The advantages claimed for the plan have not been exaggerated. It does stir up a great deal of interest on the part of the student body; it encourages the selection of the best possible candidates; it creates a more representative student vote, and, all in all, makes the student government association a thing of the students, by the students and for the students. It is not too much to say that the advantages claimed for the bi-party system are the most vital ones of effective student government and that these advantages do inhere in the system to a very excellent degree.

The editor of the Stylus says there is one danger in the scheme; there might be mud-slinging, whispered campaigns and exaggeration of otherwise harmless animosities. That is true; those things do exist when the bi-party plan is in operation. But, as the editor has pointed out, that is hardly a criticism of the plan itself. Except in the rarest instances there will always be a number of the voters who will "gripe" and "sling mud" at any candidate who might be presented for election; they can be satisfied under no scheme whatsoever, so the plan should not be discarded because of that one danger.

However, a moment's investigation will be sufficient to show that the evils mentioned above are actually of less moment than they appear. In a school the size of Maryville or Park the student body is small enough that the great majority of the students become fairly well acquainted with each other. Factions are not of any great moment in deciding friendships. As a result the student elections are held not between mortal enemies but rather between groups who for the time being are at "friendly swords points." There are arguments and disagreements of course, some of them a bit heated, but it is our happy experience that almost all of them disappear when the election is over. Winners and losers shake hands, laugh, and resume their normal friendly relations.

Some difficulty might be expected in attempting to keep the parties free from the influence of existing organizations. It is only natural that some groups already on the campus will be anxious to push the candidacy of their more prominent members in an attempt to increase the prestige of their organization. Loyal members of the present organizations will tend to hold together on election issues and the result will be that the parties will come to be controlled by factions.

Factional control, however, is not necessarily to be deplored. The great majority of the student voters will always be "unattached," and their votes will determine the result of the elections. The factions can serve only to present candidates who will meet with the approval of the majority. They must please that majority or defeat themselves.

The bi-party system of holding student elections should be an excellent system for adoption in small colleges. Its few disadvantages are small in extent and are far outweighed by its advantages.

A press dispatch says that the pursuit of knowledge in Germany is on the decline—we've never known anyone around here who pursued it very swiftly.

Spring Contests

In the afternoon, at 1:00 o'clock, design contests in room 401; extemporaneous speaking finals in room 209; and interpretative reading (humorous) finals in room 207 will be judged.

At 1:30 Friday afternoon, the finals in track and field events will take place at the athletic field, and in room 305, classes A and B clothing will be judged. Finals, in room 207, in the serious interpretative readings will be held at 2:00 p. m. The F.F.A. district public speaking contests will be held at 5:00 p. m., in room 207. Finals in play productions will be held in the auditorium at 7:30 p. m., thus winding up the program for Friday, April 26.

Saturday, April 27, the final day of the contests, will consist chiefly of music events and live stock judging. At 8:00 a. m., in room 221, classes A and B live stock judging will be in session. Music contests commence at 8:30 a. m. with class B violin and cello contests in social hall, and class B piano contests in the auditorium. At 9:00 a. m., the golf tournament will be held at the Maryville Country Club, and at the same hour, in the gymnasium, playground baseball will be played. At 9:30 a. m., in social hall, class B clarinet, bassoon, flute, and oboe contests will be judged, while at the same time, in the auditorium, class B soprano and alto solos will be judged at 10:30 in social hall and class B boys' glee clubs will compete in the auditorium. At 11:00 a. m., Class B tenor and baritone solos will be graded in social hall while at the same time, the girls' glee clubs will compete in the auditorium.

Saturday afternoon, at 1:00 in social hall, the class B trumpet, French horn, and trombone contests will be judged. At 1:30, class B chorus preliminaries will be held in the auditorium. Preliminaries in class B orchestra, class B band, and finals in class B music events will be held in the auditorium at 2:30 p. m., 3:30 p. m., and 7:30 p. m. respectively.

To be eligible for entrance in the annual Northwest Missouri spring contests, a high school must have complied with the following four rules: firstly: in order to participate in the contests a school must be a member of both the Northwest Missouri High School Activities Association and the Missouri State High School Athletic Association. Other schools could become members of the Northwest Missouri Association by sending dues to Stephen G. LaMar in Maryville, and members of the State Athletic Association by sending dues to Carl Burris, Clayton, Missouri.

Secondly, each contestant must meet the eligibility rules given in the constitution and by-laws of the Missouri State High School Athletic Association, except elementary school pupils participating in group music events.

Thirdly, the administrative board of each school is responsible for checking and certifying the eligibility of representatives from his school.

Fourthly, the board of control of the Northwest Missouri High School Association will pass on all matters of eligibility and rule on all controversies. Its decision shall be final.

Mr. Dieterich last Monday reported several schools already enrolled for the contests: New Point high school entering two students in two events, interpretative reading (serious) and grammar.

Daleview high school of Fairfax has entered seven different students in nine events, one contestant in first year algebra; one in physics contest; two in citizenship contest; one in American history contest; two in high school geography contest; one in humorous interpretative reading contest; one in essay contest; one in literary interpretation contest; and one in grammar contest.

Faucett high school has entered eleven athletes in the track and field events. Osborne high school has entered one contestant in the music events—a piano solo.

Students Attend Kansas Meeting

The Maryville State Teachers College was one of two colleges in Missouri to be represented at the first annual midwest New Citizenship Institute at Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas, April 5, 6, and 7.

George Zakoura and Louis Groh hitchhiked 340 miles to attend the meeting which was open to all college students and faculty members of Kansas, western Missouri and Oklahoma.

The New Citizenship was the theme of the institute, which is a movement in the direction of international peace. One of the main objectives of the institute is to direct the United States toward joining the League of Nations and the World Court.

A rich program was provided with outstanding men of national and international acquaintance as speakers and leaders: Clark Eichelberger, National director, League of Nations Association; Paul Harris, Jr., Secretary, Youth Movement for World Recovery;

Harry E. Terrell, Regional secretary of N. C. P. W.; John Ise, Professor of Economics at University of Kansas, Rev. Harold Case, pastor, first M. E. Church, Topeka, social and world peace leader; Rabbi Samuel S. Mayerberg, Jewish rabbi from Kansas City, ardent peace and social worker, Rev. A. B. Apra, pastor, First Mexican Baptist Church, Kansas City; Paul Hoff, chairman of Kansas Peace Action Committee; Dr. Arthur Donohue, Professor of history, Marymount College, Salina; B. A. Gessner, Professor of Psychology, Baker University; and Rev. James Chubb, Baldwin, Pastor of Methodist church.

The radio is a very efficient medium of the institute. "We must use the radio to combat the radio," said Mr. Ise with reference to the dangerous propaganda of Huey Long and others. A half-hour broadcast per week by the institute is paid for by six months subscriptions to "The League of Nations Chronicle," an enlightening peace publication.

With reference to the immediate disturbance in Europe, Mr.

LaMar Addresses Y

Mr. Stephen LaMar addressed the members of the YWCA on the subject of "Personality Plus" at the regular meeting held last Tuesday afternoon. The discussion was preceded by the devotionals, read by Marjorie Eppard, and a cornet solo played by Aletha Wharton.

The feature for next week's program will be a humorous chalk talk given by William Stilwell. Morris Yaden will play a violin solo.

Eichelberger said that there is no danger of an outbreak for the next three years.

Mr. Groh and Mr. Zakoura have made very interesting reports of the meeting to the Child Welfare class and the Social Science Club.

The boys paid all their own expenses, including the $1 registration fee. They believe it was well worth the trouble and expense, particularly because of the valuable peace literature they acquired.

Sigma Sigma Sigma Founders Day Banquet.

The Alpha Epsilon chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma celebrated its Founders Day with a banquet at the Linville Hotel, Saturday, April 13, at 6:30. The theme of the banquet was patriotism, and the colors, red, white and blue were carried out in the flowers, place cards and programs. Several small flags and strips of red, white and blue crepe paper completed the table decorations. Miss Dorothy Sandison, president, was toastmistress to the following program:

To the Founders — Margaret Humphreys.

To Sigma Sigma Sigma — Helen Kramer.

To Mable Lee Walton — Jean Montgomery.

To the National Officers — Edra Keplar.

To the Active Chapters — Miss Lois Halley.

To the Alumnae — Virginia Coe.

To the John Randolph Library — Charlotte Clapham.

Those present were: Alumnae, Mrs. Harry Mutz, Miss Estelle Campbell, Mrs. Homer Ogden, Miss Grace Langan, Miss Faye Sutton, Miss Gladys Opal Cooper, Miss Lois Halley, and Mrs. Gerald Stults, social advisor; Actives, Dorothy Sandison, Jean Montgomery, Helen Kramer, Virginia Coe, Virginia Lee Danford, Marceline Cooper, Charlotte Clapham, Lucy Lloyd, Jean St. Clair, Edra Keplar, Margaret Humphreys, Louise Gutting, Florence Petersen, Mary Peck, and Beatrice Leeson; pledges, Virginia Mutz and Mary Jane Newlon; guests, Mrs. Ira A. Newlon and Mrs. W. I. Lewis.

Alumni Meet in Kansas City

Several members of the faculty attended the second annual meeting of the Kansas City chapter of the Maryville State Teachers College Alumni Association in Kansas City, Saturday, April 13. Mr. H. Roe Bartle, chief scout commissioner of the Kansas City area, and an influential business man, was the main speaker of the evening.

The meeting was held on the Roof Garden of the Ambassador Hotel, Broadway and Knickerbocker streets. Following the invocation, the College Quartette, sponsored by Mr. C. J. Velie, sang a group of selections.

Mr. Bartle, in his address, discussed the responsibility of the teachers and the work which they accomplish in the development of Christian character as well as in the building of financiers and successful business men.

Members of the alumni committee for this year are: Ferd L. Masters, B. S. '26, chairman; Florine Allen, B. S. 1924; Maye Sturm, B. S. '27, Burdette Yeo, B. S. '27, Elizabeth Shambarger, B. S. '30, Joe M. Lukens, B. S., '17; Mrs. Fred Street, B. S. '27; Grace Dietz, B. S. '26; Lawrence Shaffer, B. S. '30; and Lena Johnson Thomas, B. S., '25.

Officers elected for next year are: Chairman, Melvin Rodgers; vice-president, Herman H. Fischer; and secretary, Mabel Cobb. At the close of the election Mr. LaMar discussed the activities of the College and urged that the Alumni be loyal in the support of their Alma Mater.

Those from here attending the dinner were: Mr. C. J. Velie, Dr. Henry A. Foster, Mr. Hugh G. Wales, Mr. A. J. Cauffman, Mr. M. W. Wilson, Mr. Stephen G. LaMar, Miss Blanche H. Dow, Dr. Anna M. Painter, Miss Olive S. DeLuce, and the members of the College Quartette.

Mr. George Melcher, Superintendent of Schools in Kansas City was a distinguished guest of the association. Those attending the dinner were not only Kansas City teachers but also Kansas City business men and women graduates of the College from the surrounding area.

Glen Taff, a former student of the College now teaching the Trego School near Graham, was at the College for a brief visit last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Halley Ford, former S. T. C. students, were at the College last Saturday. Mrs. Ford is teaching at Westboro, while Mr. Ford is teaching in the Irish Grove Schools west of Fairfax.

Thank You!

In behalf of the Faculty Committee on Public Relations I want to extend our sincere thanks to all the students who assisted in making the Senior High School Day such a decided success. We appreciate your help and we want you to know that we are grateful for all the time and energy you expended in making the day enjoyable and profitable for the High School Seniors.

—O. M. Mehus, Chairman

Senior Day Success

selections, followed by a short speech by Dr. Mehus and the roll call taken by Mr. LaMar, publicity director in charge of the event.

Lunch was served in the administration building. The guests were formed in four lines, conducted through the four specially equipped lunch rooms where the food was being served, and thence back to the auditorium to eat.

Some idea of the work involved in serving such a large crowd may be had from the amount of food products which were used in preparing the lunch. The quantities used were as follows: 260 loaves of bread, 100 lbs of meat, 55 lbs of cheese, two and one-half dozen cans of pimientos, 8 gallons of pickles, 20 gallons of salad dressing, 60 gallons of baked beans, 37 gallons of ice cream and 40 gallons of coffee. The work of preparing and serving the lunch was under the direction of Miss Estelle Campbell, manager of Residence Hall cafeteria.

During the early part of the afternoon the guests visited classes and other activities about the College. Although no definite figures are available, some of the instructors estimated the number of their departmental visitors as high as several hundred.

Visitors spent the latter part of the afternoon as guests of the College at the Maryville-Warrensburg track meet held on the local field.
